Must-See Programs on Carnegie Hall+

Concerts

- Pianist Lang Lang's sold-out recital debut at Carnegie Hall in 2003, featuring works by Chopin, Haydn, Liszt, Schubert, and traditional Chinese music, with an accompanying documentary of interviews and behind-the-scenes access
- A concert by Gustavo Dudamel and the Vienna Philharmonic with pianist Evgeny Kissin, performed at the 2020 Salzburg Festival
- An extensive Leonard Bernstein library that ranges from his legendary Mahler symphony cycle to performances with the Boston Symphony, London Symphony Orchestra, New York Philharmonic, Vienna Philharmonic, among others

Operas

- The legendary performance of Verdi's Requiem from 1967 with Luciano Pavarotti and Leontyne Price, conducted by Herbert von Karajan at La Scala in Milan
- The historic Wagner Centenary Ring cycle directed by Patrice Chéreau and conducted by Pierre Boulez from the Bayreuth Festival in 1979 and 1980
- The 2015 Salzburg Easter Festival's double-bill of Cavalleria rusticana and Pagliacci, featuring tenor Jonas Kaufmann with conductor Christian Thielemann and the Staatskapelle Dresden, directed by Philipp Stölzl

Dance

- Rudolf Nureyev's Vienna State Ballet production of Swan Lake in two versions: the original performance from 1964 featuring Rudolf Nureyev and Margot Fonteyn, as well as an acclaimed new version with updated sets and costumes to mark the 50th anniversary
- On Body, the three-part ballet choreographed by the innovative Richard Siegal, performed in Munich in 2018 by Ballet of Difference, his diverse troupe that merges classical ballet tradition, contemporary dance, and pop culture

Documentaries

- The Bolshoi Ballet in London—Paul Czinner's Oscar-nominated film—which captures the fabled company's 1956 performance at London's Royal Opera House with the celebrated Galina Ulanova as Giselle and the "Dying Swan"
- Barenboim on Beethoven, a documentary about Beethoven's nine symphonies as seen through the eyes of the West-Eastern Divan Orchestra, complementing more than a few dozen programs that feature Daniel Barenboim as conductor, pianist, and educator, including his 2020 Beethoven cycle and duo piano recitals with Martha Argerich

For Families

- Carnival of the Animals with the Kanneh-Mason Family—performed by the seven talented siblings in a colorful staged performance from the 2021 BBC Proms
- Rossini's operatic version of Cinderella from Milan's renowned La Scala, featuring soprano Frederica von Stade
