Family Day: 50 Years of Hip-Hop

Jennifer Taylor

On October 7, Carnegie Hall is having a special event
called Family Day.
It is a celebration of the 50th anniversary of hip-hop.

Julien Jourdes

Families will go to Carnegie Hall to celebrate. There will be music performances and activities that we can try.

If we want a calm space, we can go to the Quiet Zone at any time. It is a spot where everyone will try to be as quiet as possible. If we need a break, this is a safe space to go.

In the Turntable Room, we can learn to be a DJ. We can make sounds by touching records on the turntable.

We can make beats using a computer program in the Beat Making workshop.

We can dance and play dance games in the Flex Dance workshop.

We can learn about hip-hop artists who have performed at Carnegie Hall in the Hip-Hop History Gallery.

We can use markers to create graffiti art.

We can beatbox and freestyle rap with other families in the Beatboxing workshop.

There will be musical performances at Family Day. Families will dance and might even sing along. This room might be loud, but we know we can go to the Quiet Zone if we need a break.

Family Day will be a chance to celebrate hip-hop music and its history. We will have fun!
